

The Palatines to America German Genealogy Society
2018 National Conference

Willkommen to Buffalo - Gateway to a New Heimat (home)

June 13 – 16, 2018

Adams Mark Hotel

Buffalo, NY

It has been said that during the height of the Erie Canal era (1830 – 1865) more immigrants passed through Buffalo's Erie Canal district than ever passed through Ellis Island. How fitting that we will have our 2018 conference in that canal district.

We have a great line up of expert speakers:

John Philip Colletta, Ph.D., has been a popular lecturer in the field of genealogy for thirty years. A resident of Washington, D.C., he worked at the Library of Congress and taught programs at the National Archives for twenty-one years. He is a long-time faculty member of the Institute of Genealogy and Historical Research (University of Georgia) and the Salt Lake Institute of Genealogy. He also teaches programs for the Smithsonian Institution and lectures at NGS and FGS conferences. Dr. Colletta's publications include numerous articles, both scholarly and popular, two manuals—They Came in Ships: A Guide to Finding Your Immigrant Ancestor's Arrival Record and Finding Italian Roots: The Complete Guide for Americans—and one murder mystery/family history, Only a Few Bones, which includes instructional essays on how to write narrative family history. In 2014 The Teaching Company released his 15-lesson Great Course, "Discovering Your Roots," on DVD, CD or streaming. Dr. Colletta has received many professional awards and honors and appears frequently on podcasts and local and national radio and television.

Baerbel K. Johnson, AG is a native of Germany, a professional genealogist, and works for FamilySearch as a European research specialist. She holds degrees in Family and Local History Studies and Sociology from BYU, and has over thirty years of extensive experience in European family history research with emphasis on Germany. She has published numerous journal articles, contributed material for several books, and lectured at various conferences. Her personal interest is in "putting flesh on the genealogical skeleton" by placing everyone within a proper social and historical context. Baerbel currently serves as Commissioner of Education and Mentoring at ICAPGen. She is a member of NGS, the German Professional Genealogists Association, and the German Society for Computer Genealogy.

Garry Finkell is a descendant of Johann Philipp and Anna Catharina Finckel, who were among the Palatine Germans who arrived in the Colony of New York in 1710. Their descendants were Loyalists during the Revolutionary War. Most of the family went to Upper Canada (Ontario) after the war. Garry is currently President of the New York Chapter of Palatines to America German Genealogy Society.

Carolyn Heald has been researching Irish Palatine history and genealogy for more than three decades. Carolyn is the author of a book called The Irish Palatines in Ontario: Religion, Ethnicity, and Rural Migration and co-editor of the Irish Palatine Association Journal which is issued from Rathkeale, Ireland. She is a Director of the Ontario Genealogical Society's Irish Palatine SIG and was a recipient of the Eula C. Lapp Award for significant contributions to Irish Palatine genealogy.

Joseph Lieby is a past National President of the Palatines to America German Genealogy Society. He retired as a school district administrator, and has over twenty-five years' experience in genealogical research in the New York-New Jersey area. He has spoken at national and regional societies and has published articles on his research interests in the New York Palatines newsletter of which he is the editor.

Bruce Romanchak is a retired educator whose maternal grandparents were both direct descendants of 1710 Palatine immigrants to Germantown, NY. Working with social media, spread sheets, interactive maps and chromosome matching he is part of a group that has built a rapidly growing, active, and successful online community sharing and using traditional and genetic genealogy tools and methods.

Donald Schwert is a retired geologist residing in Fargo, North Dakota. His German ancestral lineages, however, all pass through Buffalo, New York—a city that he regularly visits to do research. Most recently, he has been documenting a pulse of immigration into the city from northern West Prussia, along with the surname changes of these immigrants that occurred almost immediately after their arrival.

Christopher White is a genealogist, gravestone conservator, and independent historian with a special focus on local (Albany) German-American history. He holds a BA and MA in History from the University at Albany. His writings include a Master's thesis, From Acceptance to Renunciation: Das Ende von Albanys Deutschtum. His blog is Finding Your Past: Genealogical Gleanings with the Albany Grave Digger.
